The Doctor of Ministry degree is extensively evaluated every three to four years, with the last evaluation in 2013. From this evaluation process improvements are identified and implemented. Key areas of implementation for student learning and educational effectiveness are:

- The creation by the DMin Director of a DMin Newsletter to increase communication and motivation among students.
- The offering of a Project Workshop Weekend every other year to assist DMin students in planning and executing the DMin Project proposal and the subsequent writing of the project itself.
- A restructure of the timing of offerings to meet the curricular needs of DMin students.
